

Angels

Angels usually speak very softly, it is us that must learn to listen very quietly.

To learn more about a new healing and ascension gift from Archangel Metatron & the archangel realm... click here now.

Every fantastic description and fanciful phrase imaginable has been used to describe these wondrous beings since the very beginning. Volumes of literature and religious writings have referred to them in the most glowing terms and praises. We fantasize in our minds our own versions about what they must be like and in the brief sweet moment of thought about them their reality disappears. We find ourselves wishing something this wonderful really did exist.

You may have never seen one, but you probably have not seen an atom or a billion dollars either. Be assured they are quite real and very plentiful. They have always been around and many people see them very easily. In the past it was just one of those things they didn't talk about, because everyone would think they were nuts.

During early healing sessions with the Trinity Table it was sensed or felt that there were others present although unseen on most occasions. During '97 while on the road with the table they began to appear in numbers and assist in the healing work being done. Since the table has been placed in its own Temple space in early '98 their appearances have been frequent and extraordinary. They have been readily observed by people who have never had any clairvoyant experiences previously. While touring

there
appeared to be certain beings that were always with the table, those associated with a specific area, those that come with individuals and the interested observers.

The spiritual or energetic energy of all individuals, the table, the ceremonial space, as well as the perceptual abilities of the participants are all greatly increased. Angels seem to come in various sizes, colors and shapes, and they communicate directly to one's consciousness. The work they do in many cases appears to be influencing our energetic systems at every level. In some instances their touch may even be experienced at the physical level.

They are conscious energy beings operating and existing in many dimensions. Our scientists and physics researchers have only recently begun to even admit to the possibility of this so called dimensionality aspect. Their greatest dilemma is the problem of quantifying something that operates according to laws and physics that has yet to be discovered.

Angels may be something that cannot be quantified, but they can certainly be experienced.